Impact Factor Calculation:

*Unofficial 2011 Impact Factors were established by dividing the number of articles published in 2010 and 2011 to that were cited in 2011 based on a search of the Google Scholar Citation Index database, by the number of articles published in the previous two years (2010 and 2011).

A = the number of times, articles published in 2010 and 2011, were cited by indexed journals during 2011

B = the total number of citable items published by that journal in 2010 and 2011.

Impact Factor (IF) = A/B

Glimpses of OMICS Group Conferences

Metabolomics 2012

OMICS Group's International Conference and Exhibition on Metabolomics & Systems Biology held in San Francisco during February 20-22, 2012 with a theme of Accelerating the Study of Metabolite Profiles in Biological Systems. Metabolomics-2012 has served as a catalyst for the advances in the study of Metabolomics & Systems Biology by connecting scientists within and across disciplines at sessions and exhibition held at the venue, created an environment conducive to information exchange, generation of new ideas, and acceleration of applications that benefit Research in Metabolomics & Systems Biology.

Vaccines-2012

Vaccination has become an integral part of human healthcare. The 2nd International Conference on Vaccines & Vaccination (Vaccines-2012) held during August 20-22, 2012 in Hilton Chicago/Northbrook discussed Prospects and Development of Prophylactic & Therapeutic Vaccines. Honorable Guests and keynote speakers gave their energetic and fruitful contributions at Vaccines-2012 whilst they talked about vaccines, immune system, new approaches for B and T cells, development of vaccines and a lot more.

Virology-2012

The 2nd World Conference on Virology (Virology-2012) held during August 20-22, 2012 at Embassy Suites, Las Vegas, USA aimed at discussing Innovations and Therapeutic approaches in Virology and was attended by about 200 delegates from all over the world covering almost 25 different countries. Virology-2012 served as a common platform for many proficient researchers in the field of virology working extensively on viral breakouts, their fundamental mechanisms, related immunology, vaccination and a lot more. Greatest of the personalities like Dr. Pawel Ciborowski from University of Nebraska Medical Center, Dr. N. J. Krogan from University of California; Fatah Kashanchi from George Mason University, USA; Dr. Pooja Jain from Drexel University College of Medicine, USA; Dr. Ralph Tripp from University of Georgia, USA, with their excellent keynote speeches formed the cornerstone of success of Virology-2012. It was confined not just to the academic or scientific advancements in the field of virology but the gathering also witnessed highly absorbing B2B meetings which added another dimension to Virology-2012.

Cancer Science-2012

An anguishing Cancer patient knows how much he suffers each day to proceed through with one more day of his dimming and moribund life. Fighting cancer is a great challenge in itself for which a great deal of research work is going on across the globe. OMICS Group brought many researchers of Cancer science fraternity together at 2nd World Congress on Cancer Science & Therapy (Cancer Science-2012) held during September 10-12, 2012 in Hilton San Antonio Airport, USA, where new discoveries in cancer research and the subsequent analysis were shared and extrapolated.

Biotechnology-2012

3rd World Congress on Biotechnology (Biotechnology-2012) conceived to address new challenges and emerging issues in biotechnology gathered a huge number of scientists, delegates and students at HICC, Hyderabad, India. Prominent researchers from National Institute of Health and from many other world renowned universities contributed to the event generating a great optimistic response from the scientific fraternity. A symposium organized for the final day attracted astute personalities from all the directions who brought in a lot of zeal as they discussed critical topics like drug abuse and HIV infections as a global scenario.

Your Research- Your Rights

Open Access (OA) is the practice of providing unrestricted access via the Internet to peer-reviewed scholarly journal articles. OA is also increasingly being provided to theses, scholarly monographs and book chapters

Society as a whole benefits from an augmented and expedites research cycle in which research can advance more effectively because researchers have immediate access to all the findings they need.

Increasingly, universities and research libraries are being overwhelmed with information that has been created in digital format and transmitted, accessed via computers. As the number of collections in digital formats exaggerates exponentially, more libraries and information providers are facing a number of unique challenges presented by this relatively new medium.

All works published by OMICS Publishing Group are under the terms of the Creative Commons Attribution License. This permits anyone to copy, allocate, transmit and adapt the work, provided the original work and source is appropriately cited.

The costs of producing open access literature are considered far lower than the costs of toll-access model and many associations, libraries, universities, foundations and individuals today support this mission to endorse open access as a common practice with new and improved financing models.

Revenue

The main reason for researchers not publishing in open access journals, although most of them became aware of that their research field benefits from OA is lack of funding for the article processing charge (APC).

A revenue model for Open Access (university providing funds for the articles written by its faculty) should ideally be created.

Many institutions (such as CERN) and universities (such as MIT, Harvard, Simon Fraser University, Stellenbosch University, Trinity College...) adopt different COPE (Compact for OA publishing equities <http://www.oacompact.org/compact/>) policies that then encourage their researchers to provide open access to their work, green or gold, no later than a year after publication, or that incremented funding may be obtained by researchers to pay open access fees.
